When complete, the Sound to Olympics Trail will extend across Kitsap County to link two Washington State regional trail systems: the Mountains to Sound Greenway to the Olympic Discovery Trail. This trail is also part of the Great American Rail-Trail, which stretches from Washington D.C to Washington State.

Today, three disconnected segments exist. One follows the final mile of State Route 305 in Bainbridge Island, stretching from High School Road down to the tip of Winslow Ferry Terminal. This segment passes through John Nelson Park, a neighborhood park named for the man who donated the land the park sits on. The park has its own 0.3-mile loop trail.

Two smaller segments can be found in Poulsbo.
