Black River Wildlife Management Area Trail

New Jersey

This trail goes through the Black River Wildlife Management area along streambeds and forest. Equestrians must have a NJ Wildlife terminate in West Essex Park in Livingston, and east to Stephens State Park in Hackettstown area. Plans are under way to open the rail bed to Horseshoe Lake Park in Succasunna across water authority property.

This trail goes through the Black River Wildlife Management area along streambeds and forest. Equestrians must have a NJ Wildlife Permit, which is available from NJ DEP for a fee.

The trail follows the right-of-way of the former Chester Branch of the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railroad, from Chester Station to Ironia. The main spine of the Patriot's Path (white blazes), as well as the Liberty-Water Gap Trail, also follows much of this route.

The trail leads from west to east through Black River WMA on the south side of an extensive wetland surrounding the Black River. The white blazes of the Patriot's Path depart to the right and ascend to the community of Ironia. Patriot's Path continues east to
