

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Blue Ridge Railroad Historical Trail

South Carolina

Blue Ridge Railroad Historical Trail

South Carolina

This moderately difficult walk follows the bed of railroad that was never completed—the America Civil War got in the way of SC

this marks the turn-around point on the trail.

This moderately difficult walk follows the bed of railroad that was never completed—the America Civil War got in the way of SC Statesman John C. Calhoun's rail dream. They did get as far as starting to build three tunnels into the mountain, however, which add an interesting element to the hike. Be careful, though, the tunnels tend to seep water and a flashlight will come in handy.

Start your walk at the Stumphouse Tunnel, 25 feet high, 17 feet wide and extending 1,617 feet into the mountain. You can walk to the end of the tunnel but it doesn't go all the way through.

Farther up the trail is the middle tunnel, just above Isaqueena Falls; you'll see a spur trail to the left leading to the tunnel. The third tunnel, Saddleback, is not open and

Blue Ridge Railroad Historical Trail

South Carolina

States: South Carolina

Counties: Oconee

Length: 2.5miles

Trail end points: Stumphouse Tunnel (nr. SR 28/Highlands Hwy) to Saddle Tunnel

Trail surfaces: Boardwalk,Dirt,Woodchips

Trail category: Rail-Trail

Trail activities: Walking

Parking & Trail Access

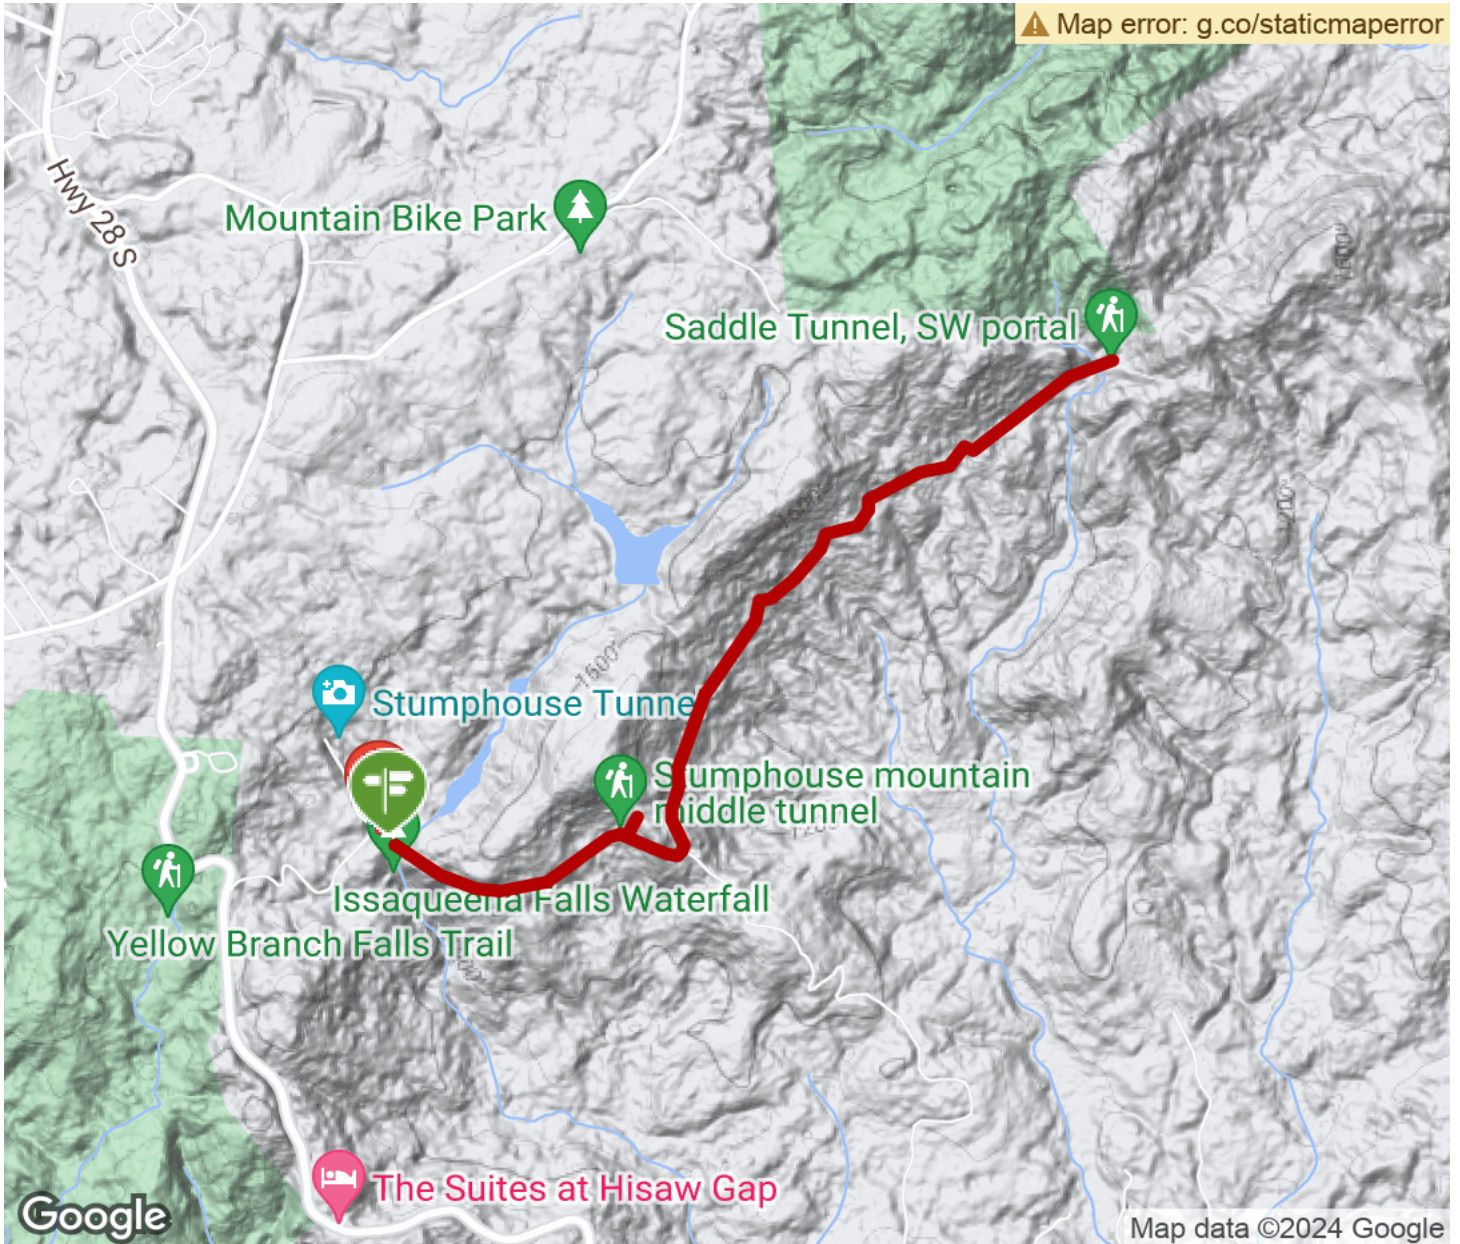

From Walhalla take SR 28 north for just beyond 5 miles. On the right, immediately beyond Yellow Branch Picnic Area, look for Stumphouse Tunnel Park. Turn into the park and continue 0.5 mile to another right turn for the Isaqueena Falls parking area.

Camping is available at Oconee State Park and Cherry Hill Recreation Area.

Blue Ridge Railroad Historical Trail

South Carolina

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com