The Holston River Greenway is one of many in Knoxville's greenway system scattered throughout the city. This 2-mile greenway is in Holston River Park and traverses through oak and beech forest, crossing an abandoned rail line and connecting to the corner of Riverside and Holston Hills drives.

The greenway makes a series of loops through Holston River Park. The park has fishing piers, a open green space, an exercise station accessible to people with disabilities, picnic shelters and two gazebos.

The Holston River Greenway is about 1 mile from KAT Route 32 B-Dandridge Avenue (Knoxville's public transit).
