The scenic Soundview Trail runs along and through the Chambers Bay public golf course—site of the U.S. Open in 2015—within Pierce County's Chambers Creek Regional Park. The 2-mile trail links at both ends with the slightly shorter Grandview Trail, allowing for longer treks on a loop through the park.

While both trails are paved, the Soundview Trail is slightly more challenging due to steeper grades and several switchbacks needed to compensate. The ultimate payoff is worth it, with dramatic views of Puget Sound available along most of the trail's route. In the north, the trail also passes through a dense grove of trees, and in the south, the trail connects to several unpaved park trails.
