The Four Mile Run Trail traverses the Four Mile Run stream valley and has many twists and turns, not to mention steep sections edge of Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport and the Potomac River. Continue north on that trail to reach Rosslyn or south to visit George Washington's famous estate.

The Four Mile Run Trail, along with the Mount Vernon Trail, the W&OD Trail, and the Custis Trail, make up the Arlington Loop.

The Four Mile Run Trail traverses the Four Mile Run stream valley and has many twists and turns, not to mention steep sections (mercifully short). The trail more or less parallels the popular W&OD Trail, connecting to it in several places.

The trail begins in the north at Bluemont Junction Park, where the Bluemont Junction Trail provides a link to Arlington's retail mecca of Ballston. Heading south, the trail is wooded and crosses the creek in numerous places, and you're likely to see hordes of runners, cyclists, dog-walkers and families. You'll also find a dog park off the trail in Shirlington.

Ultimately, the Four Mile Run Trail merges with the Mount Vernon Trail where the latter meets the southern
