

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Peninsula Crossing Trail

Oregon

Peninsula Crossing Trail

Oregon

As its name implies, the Peninsula Crossing Trail cuts through a peninsula between the Willamette and Columbia Rivers in

As its name implies, the Peninsula Crossing Trail cuts through a peninsula between the Willamette and Columbia Rivers in northern Portland. The tree-lined trail traverses urban neighborhoods and features public artwork. Its southern tip approaches the Willamette Cove, a natural habitat on the banks of the Willamette River.

From its northern end, you can continue your journey on the Columbia Slough Trail, which offers access to scenic natural areas along its namesake stream. To do so, you'll need to take a short off-trail route: take a right (go east) at Columbia Boulevard, taking the sidewalk on the right-hand side; cross the street at the Portsmouth Avenue traffic light and continue 1 block to Columbia Court. After 1 block north on Columbia Court, you'll take a right to get back on the pathway and reach the Columbia Slough Trail.

Peninsula Crossing Trail

Oregon

States: Oregon

Counties: Multnomah

Length: 5.1miles

Trail end points: N. Carey Blvd. and N. Princeton St. to Columbia Slough Trail at N. Columbia Blvd.

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike,Inline Skating,Wheelchair Accessible,Walking

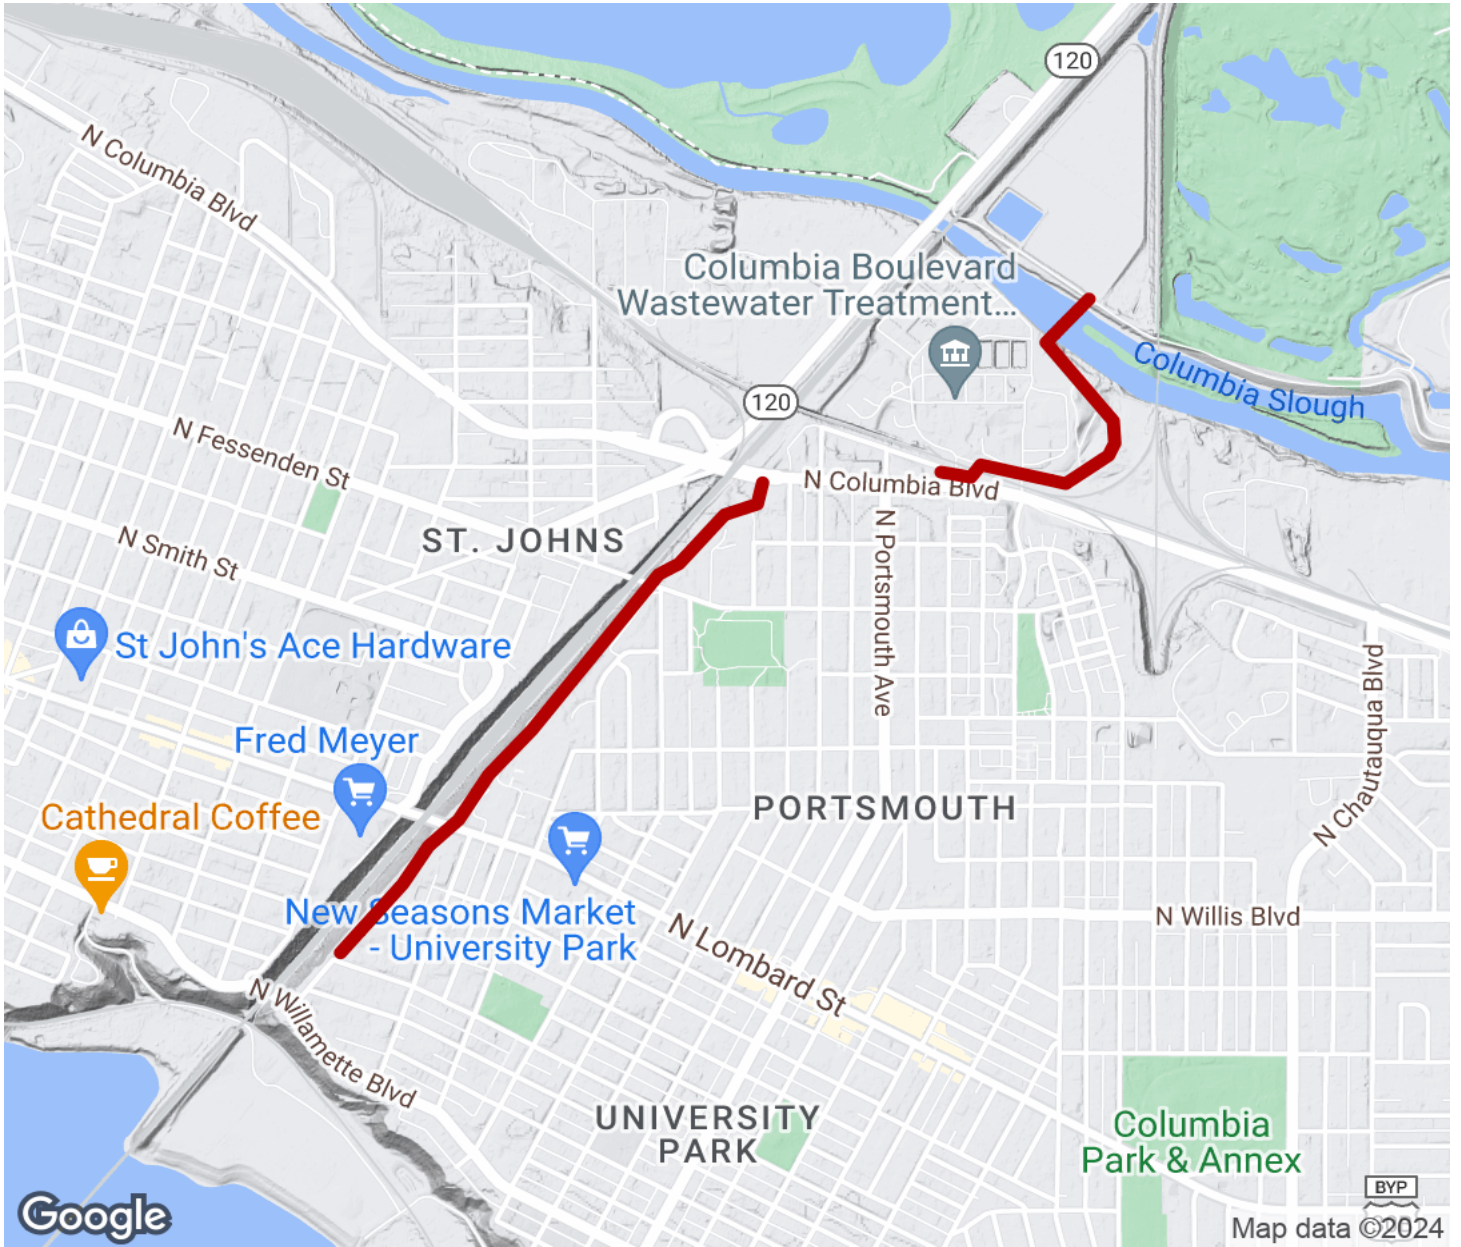

Parking & Trail Access

From I-5 in Portland, exit on N. Rosa Parks Way heading west. Take this to the junction with N. Willamette Blvd. Turn right and continue to N. Carey Blvd. Turn right onto Carey. The trailhead is in a cul-de-sac at Carey and N. Princeton.

Peninsula Crossing Trail

Oregon

- Trailhead
- Restroom
- Parking
- Water Fountain
- Tunnel