Big Walnut Trail

Ohio

Overview The developing Big Walnut Trail follows its namesake creek through Columbus and its eastern suburbs of Westerville, reach Inniswood Metro Gardens, a beautiful, 123-acre oasis with gardens, woodlands, and walking paths.

South of Hoover Reservoir Park, other sections of the trail skirt Gahanna's Academy Park, where numerous athletic facilities are available, and the Gahanna Municipal Golf Course.

Near its southern end, the trail loops through Columbus' Elk Run Park, where there's a playground and places to picnic.

Connections

Near its northern end, the trail connects to the Westerville B&W (Bike & Walk Route), an extensive system of paved multiuse paths including the Chipmunk Chatter Trail and the Towers Trail.

Overview

The developing Big Walnut Trail follows its namesake creek through Columbus and its eastern suburbs of Westerville, Gahanna, and Whitehall. Several disconnected segments of the paved pathway are open, currently totaling 10.6 miles.

About the Route

On its northern end, a highlight of the trail is its passage through Hoover Reservoir Park, which offers boating and fishing in the lake, as well as a nature preserve and idyllic habitats for bird watching. This segment ends at North Street; across the roadway, hop on a short spur called the Chipmunk Chatter Trail (part of the Westerville B&W) to
