

2025

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Hawksbill Greenway
Virginia

Hawksbill Greenway

Virginia

The Hawksbill Greenway is a 2-mile non-motorized pathway in the town of Luray, Virginia, two hours from Washington D.C. It extends Luray from the greenway.

The Hawksbill Greenway is a 2-mile non-motorized pathway in the town of Luray, Virginia, two hours from Washington D.C. It extends from Linden Street in the west to the Flowering Forest in the east. The trail is sectioned by color, and you can tell which section you are in based on the color of the paint stripes on the path. Though not a long trail, Hawksbill Greenway is nonetheless a destination on its own, with a wide range of activities appealing to visitors of every stripe. The trail is used by walkers, cyclists, families with strollers, joggers with pets. But it's also designed to tempt people to linger, with benches and picnic tables, scenic murals and vibrant landscaping. Thanks to its position alongside Hawksbill Creek and within the Shenandoah Valley, the greenway is a great spot for wildlife watching, birding and angling. And as icing, trail users also easily access historic downtown

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com

Hawksbill Greenway

Virginia

States: Virginia

Counties: Page

Length: 2miles

Trail end points: Linden Street to Flowering Forest

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Walking, Wheelchair Accessible

Parking & Trail Access

There is plenty of parking along the Hawksbill Greenway: six different spots (see the map for exact locations)

Hawksbill Greenway

Virginia

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com