The 3.5-mile Railroad Highway Trail runs through gently undulating farmland just outside of Council Bluffs, Iowa. The trail sits within the corridor of Railroad Highway, but is separated from the road. The concrete trail is 10 feet wide, accommodating pedestrians, cyclists, wheelchair users and other trail travelers.

Extensions will connect it to the regional Council Bluffs and Omaha trail system. Future plans call for creating a continuous 17 miles of trail from Council Bluffs to Neola.
