This 8-foot wide hiking and biking pathway sits on the bank of the Red River in south Bossier, Louisiana. The Red River is a tributary of the Mississippi River, and gets its distinct hue from the red soil it has swept away. The trail serves to connect Bossier residents to the waterway by providing a low-stress way to travel along it while getting unobstructed views of the water.

The trail, named for the parkway it parallels, begins on Diamond Jacks Boulevard, and heads south in between the river and the road. It passes destinations like Century Link Center multipurpose arena, a local grocery store and Walker Place Park, making it valuable for both recreation and commuting. The wide paved portion of the trail concludes by the Red River National Wildlife Refuge boat launch (168 Cullom Dr). Starting from the southeast end of
