The Lone Mountain Trail is a Las Vegas runs four miles north to south. It's paved and mostly flat, welcoming to a variety of users ranging from walkers to joggers to cyclists. Despite its numerous street crossings and switches from sidepath to off-street pathway, the trail is well-signed and easy to follow. The trail also forms a continuous non-motorized links between a number of parks including (from north to south) W Wayne Bunker Family Park, Buckskin Park, Bettye Wilson Soccer Complex and Pioneer Park. At its southern end the trail connects to the perpendicular Bonanza Trail.
