The trail runs alongside the Cedar Drainage Channel in Las Vegas, between Pecos Road, and another multiuse trail, the Upper Las Vegas Wash Trail. As you head east from Pecos Road, the Sunrise and Freeman mountains can be seen in the distance. The trail is lined by a wall separating it from housing on one side, and a fence along the canal on the other. Road crossings are at grade and each is marked by a yellow gate on the trail. The trail is used by nearby residents and connects to two schools, William K. Moore Elementary and Ebert Edwards Elementary School.
