Quintessence Trail

New Mexico

A short spur trail that provides a connection between the San Antonio Corridor Trail and the Eubank Trail, the Quintessence

A short spur trail that provides a connection between the San Antonio Corridor Trail and the Eubank Trail, the Quintessence Trail forms an important link in the city of Albuquerque's excellent network of multi-use trails. Located in the residential neighborhood of Quintessence far to the northeast of the city's center, the trail shoots west from the sidepath Eubank Trail and runs in a shrub-lined corridor between rows of homes. The trail comes to an end in the lovely Quintessence Park, home to a playground and tennis courts, offering some great opportunities for outdoor family fun - including extending your time on the trails by taking the San Antonio Corridor Trail, which runs south and west for an additional mile-plus of off-road trail.
