Bedford Trails invite residents to enjoy the benefits of being outside, both physical and mental. Sitting on 32 acres of power

The north-south segment begins near Cummings Drive to down to Bedford Road.

There are quite a few street crossings, and though they are marked, it's always best to exercise caution. Also note that the trail is not shaded, so take precautions to protect yourself from the sun.

Bedford Trails invite residents to enjoy the benefits of being outside, both physical and mental. Sitting on 32 acres of power company easements (Trout Unlimited), this linear park has enough amenities to tempt folks to venture out. There's the trails: concrete, mostly flat, separated from traffic and safe for users of all ages. There are fitness stations with instructions about how to use the equipment; there are playgrounds, including a playspace for children with physical challenges. There are water fountains, solar lights and benches if you just want a place to sit outdoors.

The trails are in two interconnected segments. The first goes west-east, running between Forest Ridge Drive and Woodpark Lane. This part provides access to the Meadow Park Athletic Complex as well as the Bedford Bark Park.
