Barney's Creek Trail

Utah

Barney's Creek Trail (sometimes called Barney's Wash Trail) is a multiuse trail in the city of West Jordan following the watercourse

which runs for 17 miles through multiple communities in the Utah Valley.

There is no shade so keep that in mind when venturing out.

Barney's Creek Trail (sometimes called Barney's Wash Trail) is a multiuse trail in the city of West Jordan following the watercourse of the same name. The trail exists in two disconnected segments, totaling two miles.

The east segment starts at Barney's Creek Park and connects residents to nearby parks and schools. The trail heads west along the stream. There's a connection to Hayden Peak Elementary just before the trail enters Stone Creek Park. There is a road crossing at Amethyst Way and an underpass at Grizzly Way, beyond which is the trail segment's endpoint.

The second part of the trail runs between 6400 West and State Route 85 (Mountain View Corridor). It connects those residents to the Mountain View Corridor Trail
