The Petersen Park Path is a short trail for biking and walking that helps residents of the neighborhoods in northwest Eugene access the charming Petersen Park. An asphalt pathway runs along a utility corridor behind a row of suburban homes, spanning between Echo Hollow Road and Hughes Street, while a concrete path runs through the small city park, weaving around the baseball and soccer fields before reaching Royal Avenue. The Petersen Barn Community Center, a popular venue for local meetings and recreational activities, is also located within the park.
