Crosstown Trail

Florida

The Crosstown Trail in Crystal River is a historic railway line that has been converted into a multiuse trail stretching nearly two crossing points and do so with caution.

The Crosstown Trail in Crystal River is a historic railway line that has been converted into a multiuse trail stretching nearly two miles. The concrete trail is used for walking, biking and hiking. A highlight of the trail is the old Crystal River Depot near the north end. The old train station, with train cars on display outside the building, is now an events space owned by the Lions Club.

The trail continues south on the shaded corridor. Beyond 3rd Street, the trail begins to parallel 2nd court, which is landscaped and lined with trees. The final stretch of the trail sits on the west side of Three Sisters Spring Trail (a street) leading up to W. Fort Island Trail.

The trail continues south, and there are numerous street crossings, including a major one at US 19. Cross at marked
