Paralleling South Broadway and 16th Street in the heart of Rochester, the Graham Park Trail provides a nice alternative to the busy roadways for cyclists and pedestrians, leading trail users along a paved asphalt path into the sprawling campus of Graham Park. The trail runs next to a section of the Zumbro South Trail, but has a bit more of an urban feel, especially along the southern half of the trail. Numerous popular destinations are located within Graham Park, including fairgrounds, a farmers market, and an indoor sports arena; visitors to the area will also get a kick out of the Ear of Corn Water Tower, a local landmark visible to the east of the trail along the railroad tracks.
