Forming a circuit around a suburban development in southern Rochester, The Gardens Trail offers a dose of natural beauty and recreation just off of the busy nearby highway. The trail branches off from the St. Bridgets Bike Path along the road of the same name, and runs behind the community of townhouses along a tree-lined corridor that borders vast farmfields at the edge of the development. Even in such an auto-centric part of Rochester, The Gardens Trail helps to ensure that residents are able to get in some nice outdoor recreation and exercise.
