A sidepath trail that follows a stretch of its namesake roadway south of Pensacola, the Gulf Breeze Parkway Trail offers a useful transportation route for cyclists and pedestrians looking to navigate between the gorgeous beaches and beachside communities in this western section of the panhandle.

With the exception of some narrower stretches on the western end, the trail maintains a smooth, wide asphalt surface. While the adjacent roadway makes for a loud and not very scenic companion to the trail, the beautiful Florida woods to the south, which mark the edge of the Gulf Islands National Seashore, helps to improve the surroundings and offers some much-needed shade.
