Baldwin Gulch Trail

Colorado

The Baldwin Gulch Trail stretches for two miles between Pine Drive and the Cherry Creek Regional Trail, which stretches 40 miles

The Baldwin Gulch Trail stretches for two miles between Pine Drive and the Cherry Creek Regional Trail, which stretches 40 miles through three counties. The trail is concrete and follows the alignment of the intermittent stream towards Cherry Creek. The trail begins in a residential subdivision and underpasses take trail users across Lincoln Drive, Parker Road and Twenty Mile Road as it mimics the curves of sweeps of the gulch. Users can turn back or extend their journey via the Cherry Creek Trail.
