Parks to Ports Greenway Trail

New York

This shared-use path was built as part of the improvement of NY State Route 347 in Suffolk County. SR 347 is a 15-mile arterial

Pond Road endpoint. There are several intersections with streets and driveways along the way, and the Terry Road/County Road 16 is the widest of these. As always, proceed with caution at these points.

This shared-use path was built as part of the improvement of NY State Route 347 in Suffolk County. SR 347 is a 15-mile arterial between Hauppauge and Port Jefferson, and the trail is envisioned to stretch the entire length of the roadway. Currently, however, it extends nearly four miles through the town of Smithtown and its hamlets, Hauppauge & Neconset.

The path sits on the south side of SR 347, and is divided into two travel lanes. It begins at its intersection with Townline Road and ends just east of Gibbs Pond Road, passing by residential, office and commercial areas. Rest stops are provided, with benches and interpretive signage. Bus shelters have also been sited in intervals along the route. The trail is smooth asphalt, with pleasant landscaping and slopes slightly upward towards the Gibbs
