A concrete sidepath that runs through Clinton, Mississippi, the Pinehaven Drive Bike Path is one of the community's only existing pieces of bike infrastructure. The path is far from a recreational trail, but offers a wider and safer option for cyclists and pedestrians traversing its corridor, running between East Northside Drive and Arrow Drive.

The path provides an option for residents in Clinton's northern outskirts to travel towards the center of town and Mississippi College, which lies further south. Clinton is currently working on a connecting shared-use path along Arrow Drive, which would lead to the local high school, scheduled to be completed with road paving work in 2021.
