Village Creek Trail is an scenic hike and bike trail connecting River Legacy Park to Village Creek Historic Area Park. The trail is wide concrete, and is generally quite flat. At the north end, the trail connects to the River Legacy Trail along the Trinity River within the 1300-acre park. At the south end, the trail cuts through Bob Findlay Linear Park as well as the Village Creek Historic Area, a 135-acre park whose name is a reminder of the Native American villages that once occupied the creek's banks.
