The Fee Fee Greenway provides a scenic and peaceful escape into nature along Fee Fee Creek, while making connections to local and regional recreation destinations. The trail paved is anchored by the Maryland Heights Community Center's Aquaport on its east end, and the popular Creve Couer Lake Memorial Park on the west. While it measures just over 2.5 miles, trail users can extend their journey using the trails around Creve Couer Lake and the Creve Couer Connector Trail to cross the river and ride the Centennial Greenway and the Katy Trail in St. Charles County - a uninterrupted journey of 16 miles.

The Fee Fee Greenway is open to cyclists and pedestrians, and is a great spot for birders. Dogs are welcome on the trail.
