Jasper Riverwalk

Indiana

Following the Patoka River, the Jasper Riverwalk is a pleasantly easy path that offers opportunities for recreation and connection.

trail heads north and follows along the Patoka River. There is a dedicated trail bridge crossing the Patoka River next to the Jasper City Mill. The first 2.1 miles is generally in a shaded woodland setting intermixed with some development. After 2.1 miles the trail reaches the original terminus at 15th Street. At this point a newer section of trail continues to a parking lot at the end of trail on Mill Street. This section is much more open and developed, passing through an industrial area and several street intersections.

Following the Patoka River, the Jasper Riverwalk is a pleasantly easy path that offers opportunities for recreation and connection. Mid-way along the route, the Dave Buehler Plaza (500 E 4th St) features four picnic shelters, fishing and boating access, grills, a playground, horseshoe pits, a gazebo and restrooms. Additional restrooms are available at Jasper City Mill during its hours of operation. Open year-round, the trail is popular with pedestrians, runners, and cyclists. Skateboarding and roller blading is also allowed. Pets are welcome, as long as they are on a leash. Benches are placed periodically along the trail and trees provide shade for most of the route. The trail is illuminated from Dave Buehler Plaza to 400 Clay St.
