peaceful escape to enjoy nature, wildlife, and outdoor activities within the city.

The Chenango Greenway River Trail (South) provides a scenic, multi-use trail system along the Chenango River, perfect for walking, running, and biking. It is a 4.6-mile route that is well-suited for multiple uses, including biking.

About the Route

While there is a northern section of the trail (not pictured on the map), the southern section is best suited for biking. This section of the trail runs along a flat stone dust path that cuts through the meadow along the riverside. Originating in the 1970s, the trails connect key areas like Greenway Park, Baker Dog Park, and Patsy's Riverview, a 5-acre hub with plans for an overlook terrace and walking paths. Supported by the community, the trails offer a
