during migration in spring and fall.

Lake Williams is a 113-acre lake, situated in the heart of Marlborough, Massachusetts. Because of the sensitive nature of Lake Williams as a backup water supply, there is no fishing, no pets, and no water access.

About the Route

The lake's 1.5-mile-long trail loop runs through the shady woods near the lake shore through young woodland and mature stands of trees, across wetlands on boardwalks and provides a view at the top of the hill. The just-over-half-mile of floating boardwalk provides wonderful water views to enjoy. Trail users should note that the boardwalk does close seasonally.

Local birds often use the lake for feeding and especially
