The Bunsen Peak Loop Bike Trail is 7.2 miles of strenuous mountain biking that encircles its namesake mountain. The southern portion of the loop follows a relatively flat, yet bumpy, trail, whereas the northern portion of the trail is incredibly hilly and winding, with 960 ft of elevation change in 2.5 miles.

For an easier ride, trail users can travel out-and-back between Osprey Falls and the parking lot for a flatter and scenic ride.
