The 23 miles of trails in Shevlin Park offer numerous routes for exploration. Three notable routes within the park are the Loop Trail, Tumalo Creek Trail, and the Mountain Bike Trail. Sections of the park do not allow for bikes, please observe posted signs.

The Loop Trail is 6 miles long and runs along the canyon rim and has a few steep sections. The 2.5-mile Tumalo Creek Trail follows its namesake creek upstream and trail users can continue along the Deschutes National Forest Trail System at the park's southern end. The Mountain Bike Trail follows the canyon floor and also links to the NFS trails, including the Mrazek Trail.
