

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Whittier
Greenway Trail
California

Whittier Greenway Trail

California

The Whittier Greenway Trail occupies part of an abandoned railroad right-of-way in its namesake town, running parallel to further 2.7 miles along the former railroad easement from Mills Avenue to the A County/Orange County border. Further extensions will provide connections to additional trails running through La Habra and Brea, which will link to the Santa Ana River Trail.

The Whittier Greenway Trail occupies part of an abandoned railroad right-of-way in its namesake town, running parallel to Whittier Boulevard and Lambert Road between Pioneer Boulevard near I-605 and the LA County/Orange County border. An active rail line travels from Mills Avenue to the LA County/Orange County border.

Along this urban, and sometimes noisy, trail you'll find some interesting wind vane sculptures, along with nice landscaping with native California plants. As a bonus to riding the trail take a short detour to nearby Whittier Uptown Historic District a great place to catch a snack, coffee or even a meal from a wide range of restaurants.

The City of Whittier recently extended the trail a

Whittier Greenway Trail

California

States: California

Counties: Los Angeles

Length: 7.5miles

Trail end points: Grade crossing at Pioneer Blvd. to LA County/Orange County border

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Rail-Trail

Trail activities: Bike, Inline

Skating, Wheelchair Accessible, Walking

Parking & Trail Access

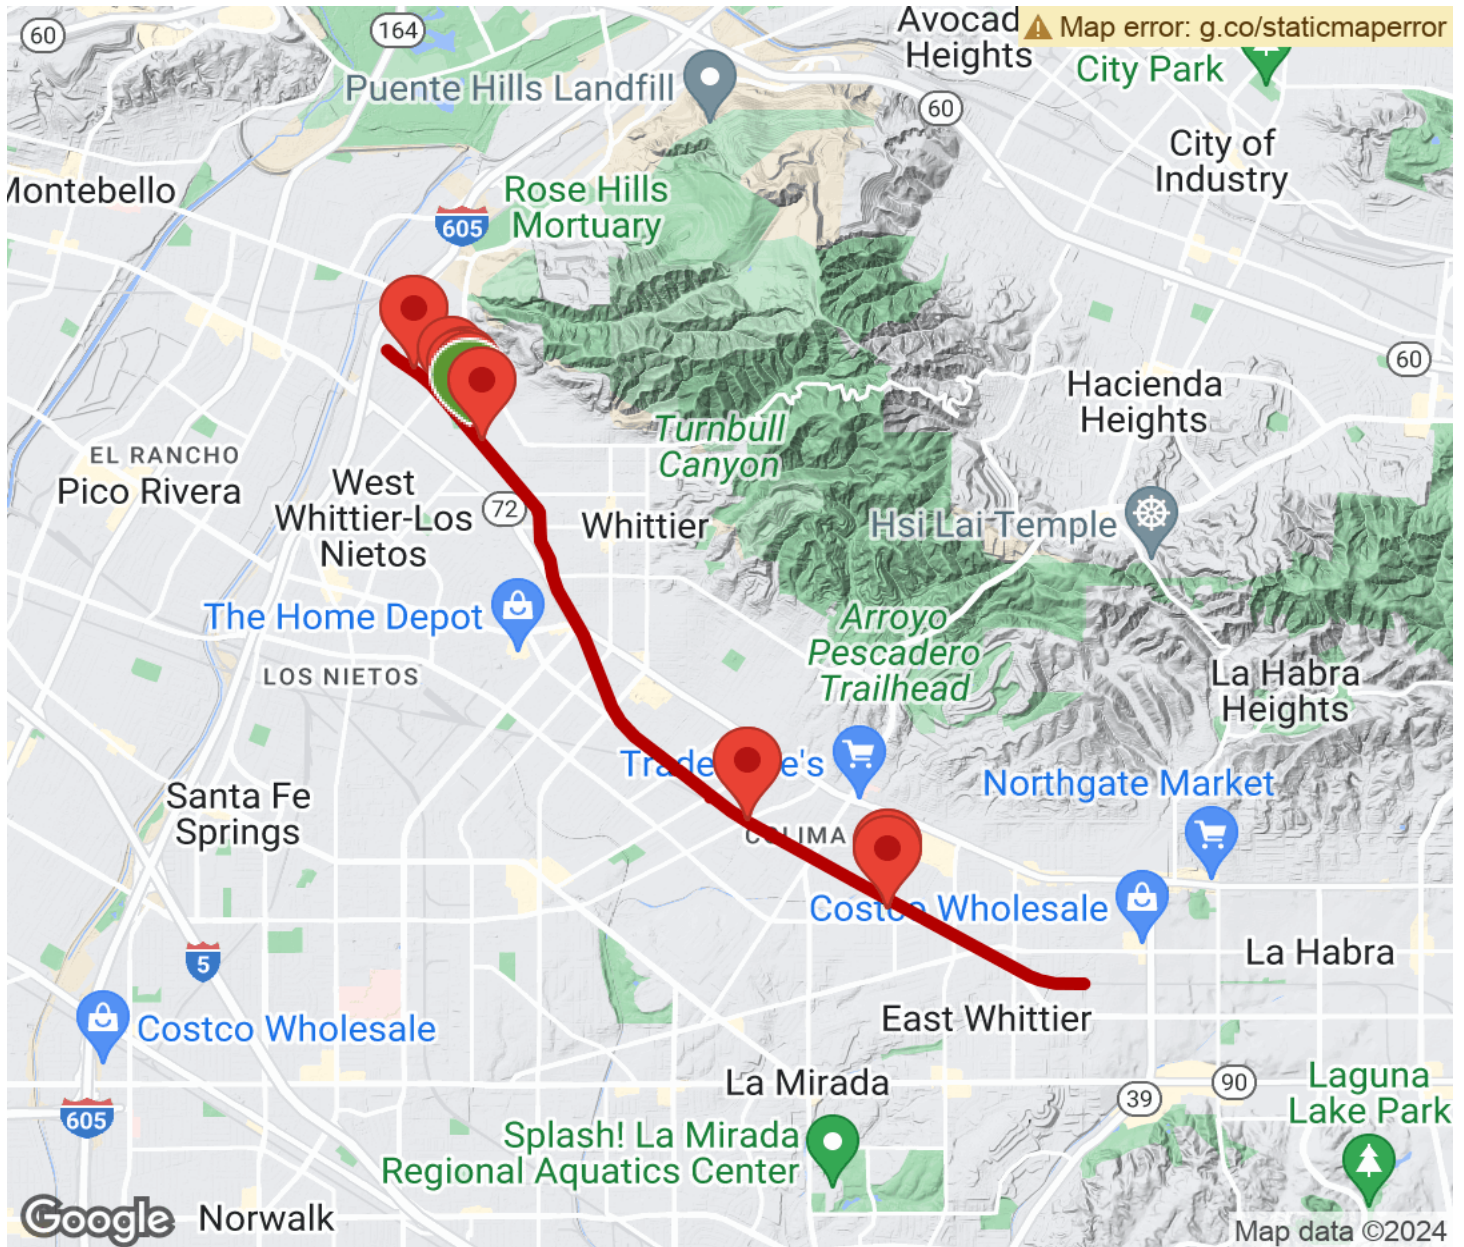

The main trailhead for the Whittier Greenway Trail is at Palm Park, 5703 Palm Avenue. You can also park on the street at Lorene Street (at the northern end) and at a lot on El Rancho Drive. Visit the TrailLink map for all options and detailed directions.

Orange County's transit system provides access to the trail. Refer to the OCTA website to plan your route.

Whittier Greenway Trail

California

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com