Note: Like most of Lyons' parks system, the Corridor Trail has been closed since a devastating flood in September 2013. Work is currently underway to reopen the closed parks and trails. See the city's official website for more information.

The Corridor Trail meanders along St. Vrain Creek through the mountain community of Lyons, Colorado, outside of Rocky Mountain National Park. The trail links neighborhoods with Bohn Park on the southside of town. The park offers ball fields, a basketball court, playground, a dirt bike skills area, community garden, picnic areas and shelter, and an off-leash dog park. You can also fish or use the park for a boat put-in (non-motorized craft).
