

2026

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Stoddard Pathway

Idaho

Stoddard Pathway

Idaho

The Stoddard Pathway is an almost 3-mile trail on the eastern side of Nampa, Idaho. The trail was built on a former rail corridor that where Stoddard Pathway crosses East Locust Lane and then go west on York Ave for about 600ft to find an entrance to the Wilson Pathway.

The Stoddard Pathway is an almost 3-mile trail on the eastern side of Nampa, Idaho. The trail was built on a former rail corridor that was converted to an underutilized dirt path in the 1990s. Now, the paved trail is one of the city's most popular, as it passes scores of houses and is beautifully landscaped.

Equestrian users are welcome on the Stoddard Pathway, but horses must stay off the asphalt and instead stick to the natural surface alongside the trail.

Looking for a longer adventure? Continue on the Wilson Pathway, which offers another 3 scenic miles through several neighborhoods and ends shortly past Roosevelt Avenue. To access the Wilson Pathway from the Stoddard Pathway, take the Partridge Pathway trail from north of

Stoddard Pathway

Idaho

States: Idaho

Counties: Canyon

Length: 2.78miles

Trail end points: E Sherman Ave (Nampa) to Ridenbaugh Canal, south of E Locust Ln

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Rail-Trail

Trail activities: Bike, Horseback Riding, Inline Skating, Walking, Wheelchair Accessible

Parking & Trail Access

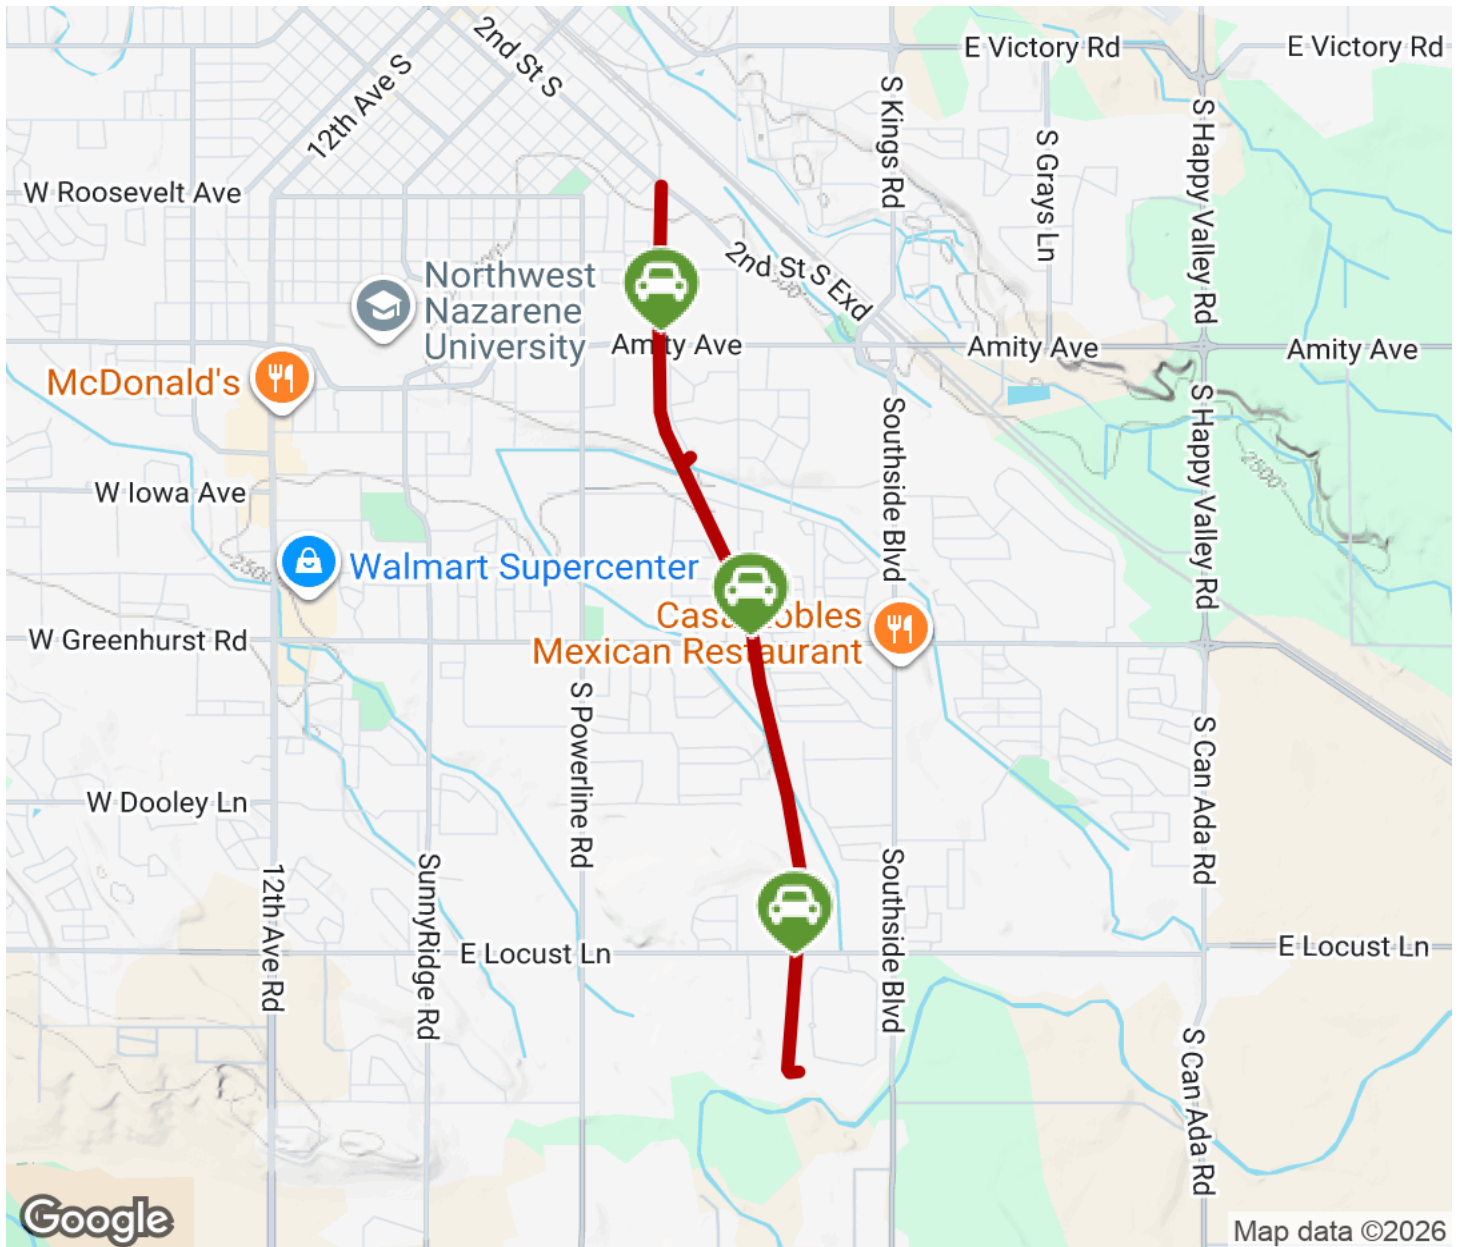

Parking for the northern trailhead is available by Maple Wood Park in a parking lot on Greenhurst Road.

Parking for the trail's southern end can be found off East Locust Lane.

Stoddard Pathway

Idaho

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com