Dearborn County Trail

Indiana

The 5.4-mile Dearborn County Trail runs in three distinct sections throughout Dearborn County, Indiana. The three sections are also miles), heading south on Decatur Street/SR 56 to just south of its intersection with Market Street. On the river side of the road, the Lesko Park Bike Path continues 0.7 mile south through Lesko Park.

Part of the paved rail-trail parallels an active CSX rail line along the scenic Ohio River. There are a few bridge crossings, Wilson Creek in Aurora and a restored 1882 bridge across Tanners Creek. Between Lawrenceburg and Aurora the trail passes through a wooded corridor and is more rural. Watch for wildlife in this section, including deer, beaver, foxes and shorebirds along the river wetlands.

The 5.4-mile Dearborn County Trail runs in three distinct sections throughout Dearborn County, Indiana. The three sections are also referred to as (from north-south): Greendale Trail, Aurora-Lawrenceburg Trail, and the Lesko Park Bike Path

About the Route

The Greendale Trail runs between Walnut Street and Hollywood Boulevard at Eads Parkway, paralleling Eads Parkway/US 50 on the east side. There's a short gap (0.6 mile) in the trail between Lawrenceburg and Greendale. The Aurora-Lawrenceburg Trail runs 3.6 miles between E. William Street at E. High Street in Lawrenceburg and Manchester Landing Street on the north edge of Aurora. Trails users can continue on-road through Aurora (0.7-
