The Coalwood Trail runs east-west for 26.4 miles between the Cusino State Wildlife Research Area and the town of Chatham. The trail traverses wooded and open terrain in parts of the Hiawatha National Forest. Just east of where the trail crosses M-94 is another system of loop trails (Valley Spur Trail) for mountain bikers and hikers.

The section between the M-94 at the trail's eastern end and M-94 north of Sixteenmile Lake is open to ATVs and snowmobiles. At its eastern end, the Coalwood Trail links with the Haywire Trail (at M-94 just south of M-28).
