Closure notice: The Border to Border Trail between Gallup Park and Parker Mill is temporarily closed for construction from June 30 to Mid-July 2026.

The section of the trail between Dexter-Huron Metropark and Central Street in Dexter will temporarily reopen July 3–5, allowing trail users to enjoy the corridor during the Independence Day weekend. The trail will be closed again from July 6–10. Please check the trail website or social channels for updates.

The Border-to-Border Trail is a work in progress, which when complete, will stretch across Washtenaw County from its border with Livingston County in the northwest to Wayne County in the east. Much of the off-road trail is open and sees heavy traffic, particularly where the trail skirts downtown Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

About the Route

Leaving off from the northern end of the route, there are a couple of discontinuous sections of trail north of Dexter. The northernmost section leaves off north of Chelsea and heads south along M-52 towards town. There are another two sections of trail between Chelsea and Dexter, along Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

The next, easternmost section of the trail, provides an important connection between Hudson Mills Metropark and downtown Dexter. The path, also known here as the West River Trail, is primarily paved as it follows the west bank of the Huron River; a section through wetlands is a boardwalk. The wooded 1,500-acre park at its northern end offers a wide range of recreational opportunities, including hiking, golfing, camping, fishing, canoeing, and cross-country skiing.

A disconnected trail segment, roughly 5 miles long, extends eastward from Dexter through Dexter-Huron Metropark to Delhi Metropark.

The longest open stretch of the Border-to-Border Trail resumes in Ann Arbor. Cyclists can use Huron River Drive to bridge the gap while trail plans are drawn up but should exercise extreme caution around the road's several blind curves.

In Ann Arbor, the Border-to-Border Trail extends south from the Barton Nature Area toward town, mostly following the course of the Huron River. The trail passes close to the University of Michigan's main medical campus, crosses the river several times, and parallels an active Amtrak line on its way to the campus of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. Here the off-road trail ends for a few miles but picks up again in south Ypsilanti near Interstate 94. It then continues south along the north shore of Ford Lake to its
