The Harrisburg-Sunset Trail is a rails-to-trails project offering bicyclists and pedestrians over 5 miles of trail and on-street

For photos of this trail and additional information on this and other bicycle/pedestrian projects in Houston, please see the first Trail Website.

The Harrisburg-Sunset Trail is a rails-to-trails project offering bicyclists and pedestrians over 5 miles of trail and on-street bikeways just east of downtown Houston.

The 10-foot asphalt trail is lighted and runs from Drennan to Marsden and from Avenue H to Hidalgo Park. The on-street portion of the trail includes segments from Commerce and McKee, to Commerce and Drennan, and from Garrow and Marsden to Avenue H and West Hendrick.

The trail connects to the existing on-street bikeways at McKee, Sampson, York, and 67th Street. A future designated connection at S. 70th Street will connect the Harrisburg and Sunset Rail Trails to Brays Bayou.
