

2026

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Coal Mines Trail

Washington

Coal Mines Trail

Washington

The Coal Mines Trail is built on an old railroad spur of the Northern Pacific Railway that once served several mines. Look for

The Coal Mines Trail is built on an old railroad spur of the Northern Pacific Railway that once served several mines. Look for interpretive signs along the way that identify historical sites. The trail lies 80 miles east of Seattle and runs through three small towns.

From its southern end in Cle Elum, the trail follows a tree-lined route paralleling Crystal Creek while traveling northwest to Roslyn, where the popular TV show Northern Exposure was filmed. Here, trail users can visit the Roslyn Museum (203 W. Pennsylvania Ave.), about a block from the trail, to learn about the town's mining past.

Outside the city, the trail continues through the trees until reaching its end at Ronald.

Coal Mines Trail

Washington

States: Washington

Counties: Kittitas

Length: 4.7miles

Trail end points: Ronald Fire Station to W 2nd St. (Cle Elum)

Trail surfaces: Gravel

Trail category: Rail-Trail

Trail activities: Bike, Horseback

Riding, Snowmobiling, Walking, Cross Country

Skiing

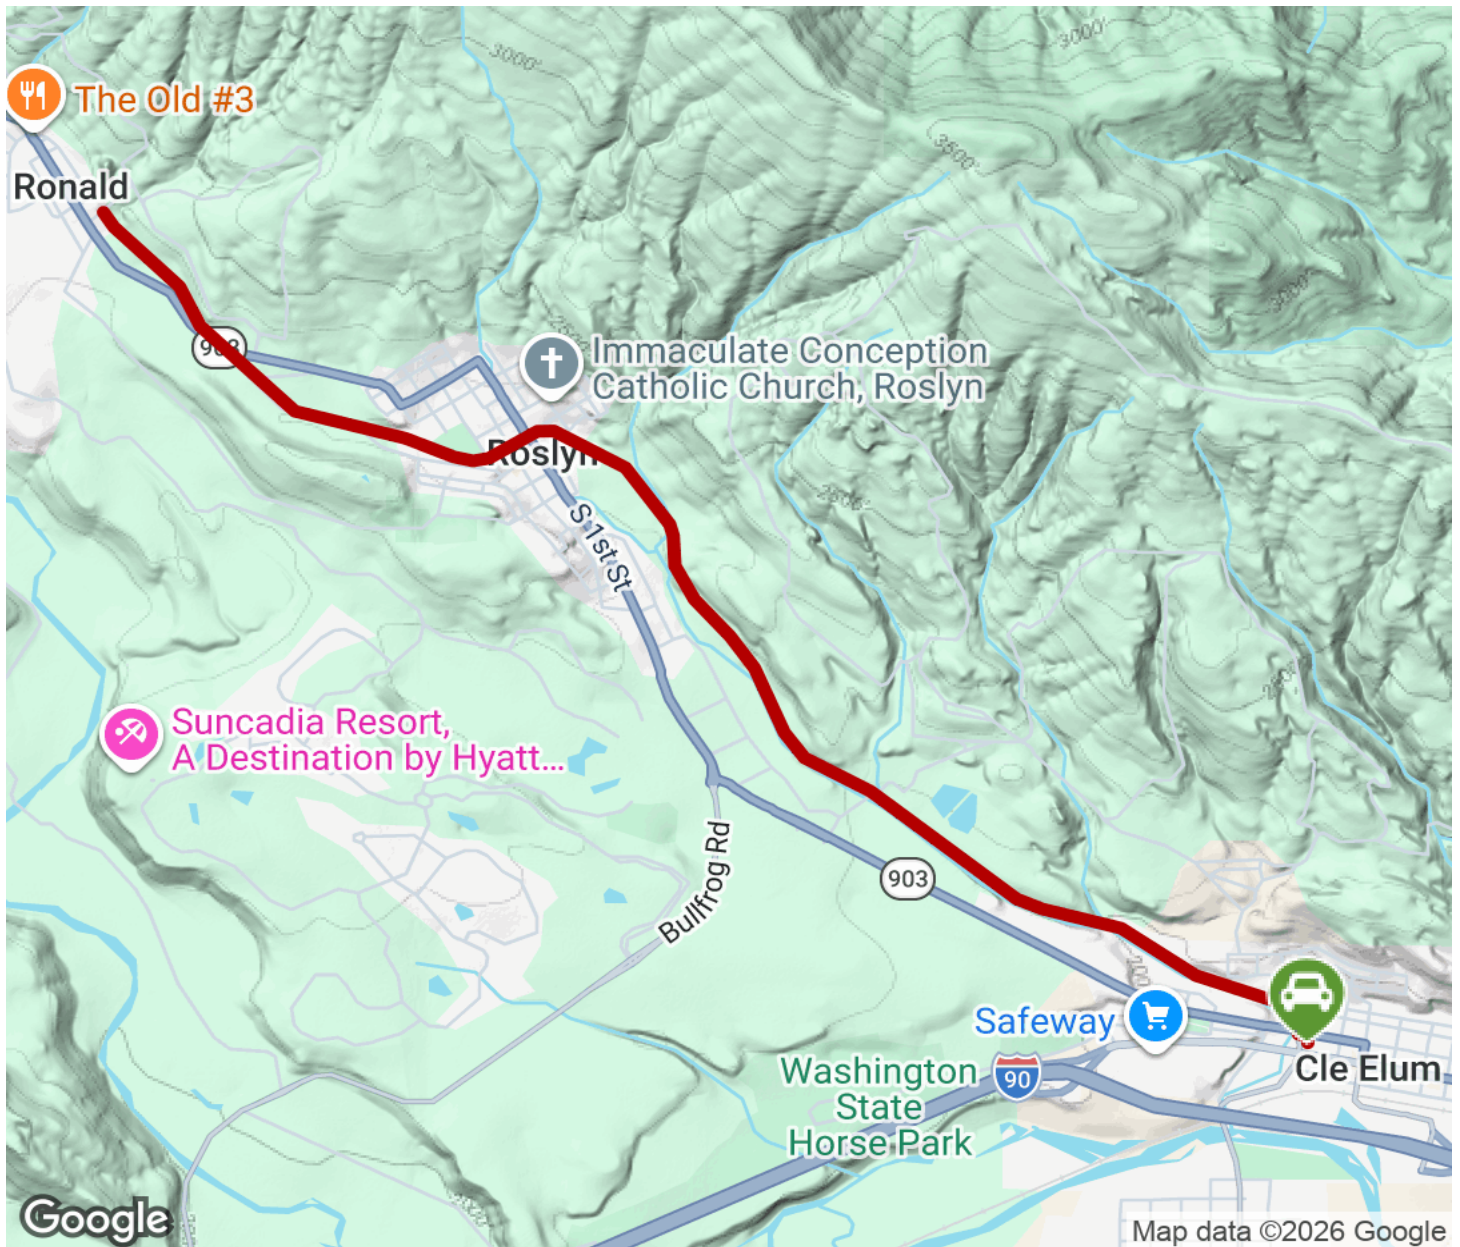

Parking & Trail Access

At the trail's southern end in Cle Elum, parking is available at Flag Pole Park (corner of W. First Street and Stafford Street).

Coal Mines Trail

Washington

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com