The Portage Bikeway trail system is a 17.5-mile network of multi-use trails throughout the city of Portage, south of Kalamazoo. The 4-mile segment through Portage Creek Bicentennial Park is cleared of snow in winter, as is a segment of the Portage Bikeway between Romence Road and Constitution Boulevard north and west to Hampton Street.

While the main trail spine runs north-south, an eastern spur called the Garden Lane Path stretches to Portage Road and provides safe commuting access.

The bikeway trails connect neighborhoods, parks, businesses, and entertainment venues. In addition, you can boat in Portage Creek Bicentennial Park. Trail users may want to check out the Milham Avenue activity area
