Southwick Rail Trail

Massachusetts

The Southwick Rail Trail extends for 6.5 miles between the Westfield town line south and the Massachusetts–Connecticut state

Connections

At the northern end of the trail, the Southwick Rail Trail turns into the Columbia Greenway Rail Trail.

At the south end of the trail, trail users can continue along the Farmington Canal Heritage Trail.

The Southwick Rail Trail extends for 6.5 miles between the Westfield town line south and the Massachusetts–Connecticut state line.

About the Route

Along the way, the Southwick Rail Trail travels through swamps and farmland and passes several golf courses as it heads south.

At the Connecticut state line, trail users will be able to see the remains of the New Haven to Northampton Canal, from which the rail trail got its name. The southern end of this trail comes only in name, as trail users can continue riding along the Farmington Canal Heritage Trail.
