

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Whitehorse Regional Trail

Washington

Whitehorse Regional Trail

Washington

Closure Notice: Between the Centennial Trail (western endpoint) and the Trafton trailhead and just east of 435th street in Darrington

At its eastern endpoint, the trail connects to the Centennial Trail in Arlington.

Closure Notice: Between the Centennial Trail (western endpoint) and the Trafton trailhead and just east of 435th street in Darrington are closed as of September 11th, 2023 due to washouts. See Snohomish County for more current information.

The Whitehorse Regional Trail stretches about 27 miles between Arlington and Darrington, just northeast of Seattle, Washington, along a former BNSF rail line. It parallels the North Fork Stillaguamish River and the SR 530 but also for a majority of the route, trail users are treated to uninterrupted wilderness views. The trail surface is a majority gravel and dirt, be prepared for possibly bumpy, rough surfaces. But in addition to the wilderness terrain, users are treated to scenic views of mountains, streams, forests and rolling farmland.

Whitehorse Regional Trail

Washington

States: Washington

Counties: Snohomish

Length: 26.6miles

Trail end points: Centennial Trail north of Haller Bridge (Arlington) to Price St. & Railroad Rd. (Darrington)

Trail surfaces: Ballast,Gravel

Trail category: Rail-Trail

Trail activities: Fishing,Horseback Riding,Mountain Biking,Walking,Cross Country Skiing

Parking & Trail Access

There is a small gravel parking lot available at the eastern trailhead in Darrington. At Fortson Mill along Fortson Mill Rd. (off of St. route 350 NE) there is a small lot available.

See TrailLink map for more detailed directions.

Whitehorse Regional Trail

Washington

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com