there, the trail heads north and then east along the river through Carrier Park, where trail users can find many athletic facilities, a playground, picnic pavilion, river overlooks, boat landing and a wetland interpretive and education area.

The continues along Amboy Road to French Broad River Park, which offers lots of open green space, a wildflower garden, a dog park, picnic areas, an observation deck and a playground. The trail continues north from the park to trail's end at Craven Street, just south of I-240.

Closure notice: The section that runs through French Broad River Park is closed due to extensive damage from Tropical Storm Helene. Please refer to the City of Asheville website for more information.

The French Broad River Greenway links three of Asheville's parks: Hominy Creek River Park, Carrier Park, and French Broad River Park. The trail follows the river, coursing through a wooded strip of land, through the parks and among some residential and light commercial sites.
