although the trail itself receives minimal shade, so be sure to come prepared with sunscreen. Keep an eye out for wildlife like egrets and heron along this wooded trail and signs warn to be mindful of alligators, which can occupy the canal.

The Sawmill Branch Multi-Use Trail is a 6.9-mile paved pathway that follows the Sawmill Branch Canal through the town of Summerville.

About the Route

Starting from its northern end at 500 E Richardson Avenue, just east of Summerville's main drag, this flat, 10-foot wide, paved trail follows the Sawmill Branch Canal along a wooded area in the southern part of the city for just shy of seven miles. The southern end of the trail is at the YMCA Trailhead (908 Crosscreek Dr, Summerville).

Most of the road crossings on this trail go under the roads, making for a pleasant—and safe—journey. The adjacent canal and wooded lands make for scenic accompaniment,
