The Nall Avenue Path is a paved sidepath along Nall Avenue, its namesake. The path offers connections to the residents of the Kansas City suburb of Overland Park, providing access to apartments, houses and commercial centers, as well as religious and medical facilities. Sprint Corporation's headquarters—a sprawling complex designed to resemble a college campus—is also located along the trail, between W. 115th Street and W. 119th Street.

At its north end, the path connects to the Indian Creek Bike/Hike Trail, which winds through Overland Park and Olathe. Farther south, the path links with both the Tomahawk Creek Trail and the 133rd Street Path.
