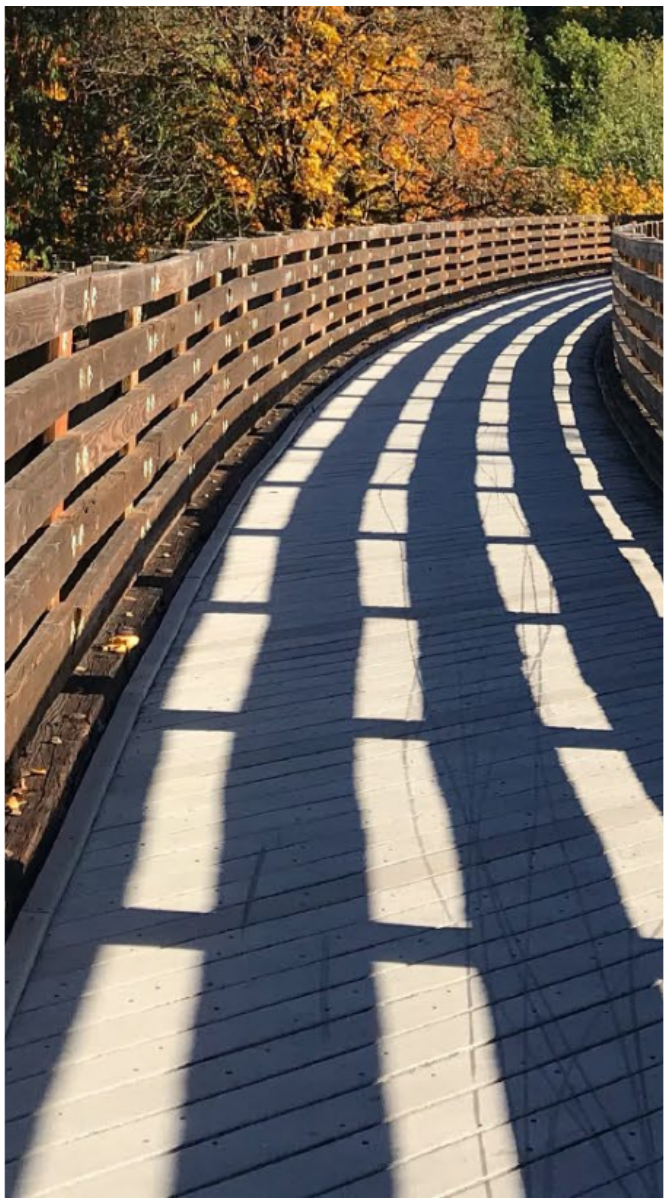
TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

2026

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides



Little Dry Creek Trail

Colorado

Little Dry Creek Trail

Colorado

The Little Dry Creek Trail provides a paved, relatively flat pathway for bikers, walkers and skaters through areas of Westminster and

The Little Dry Creek Trail provides a paved, relatively flat pathway for bikers, walkers and skaters through areas of Westminster and northern Arvada. The tree-lined route follows its namesake, Little Dry Creek, notable for being the site of the first significant gold discovery in Colorado in 1858.

Spanning 10 miles, the trail winds through busy neighborhoods as well as open spaces with some on-street portions. The best views can be found along its northwestern stretch, which passes through several parks, including Little Dry Creek Park, Woodrun Park, Lakecrest Park and Michael Northey Park.

For further exploring, an easy connection to the 20-mile Clear Creek Trail can be made at the trail's eastern tip in Westminster.

Little Dry Creek Trail

Colorado

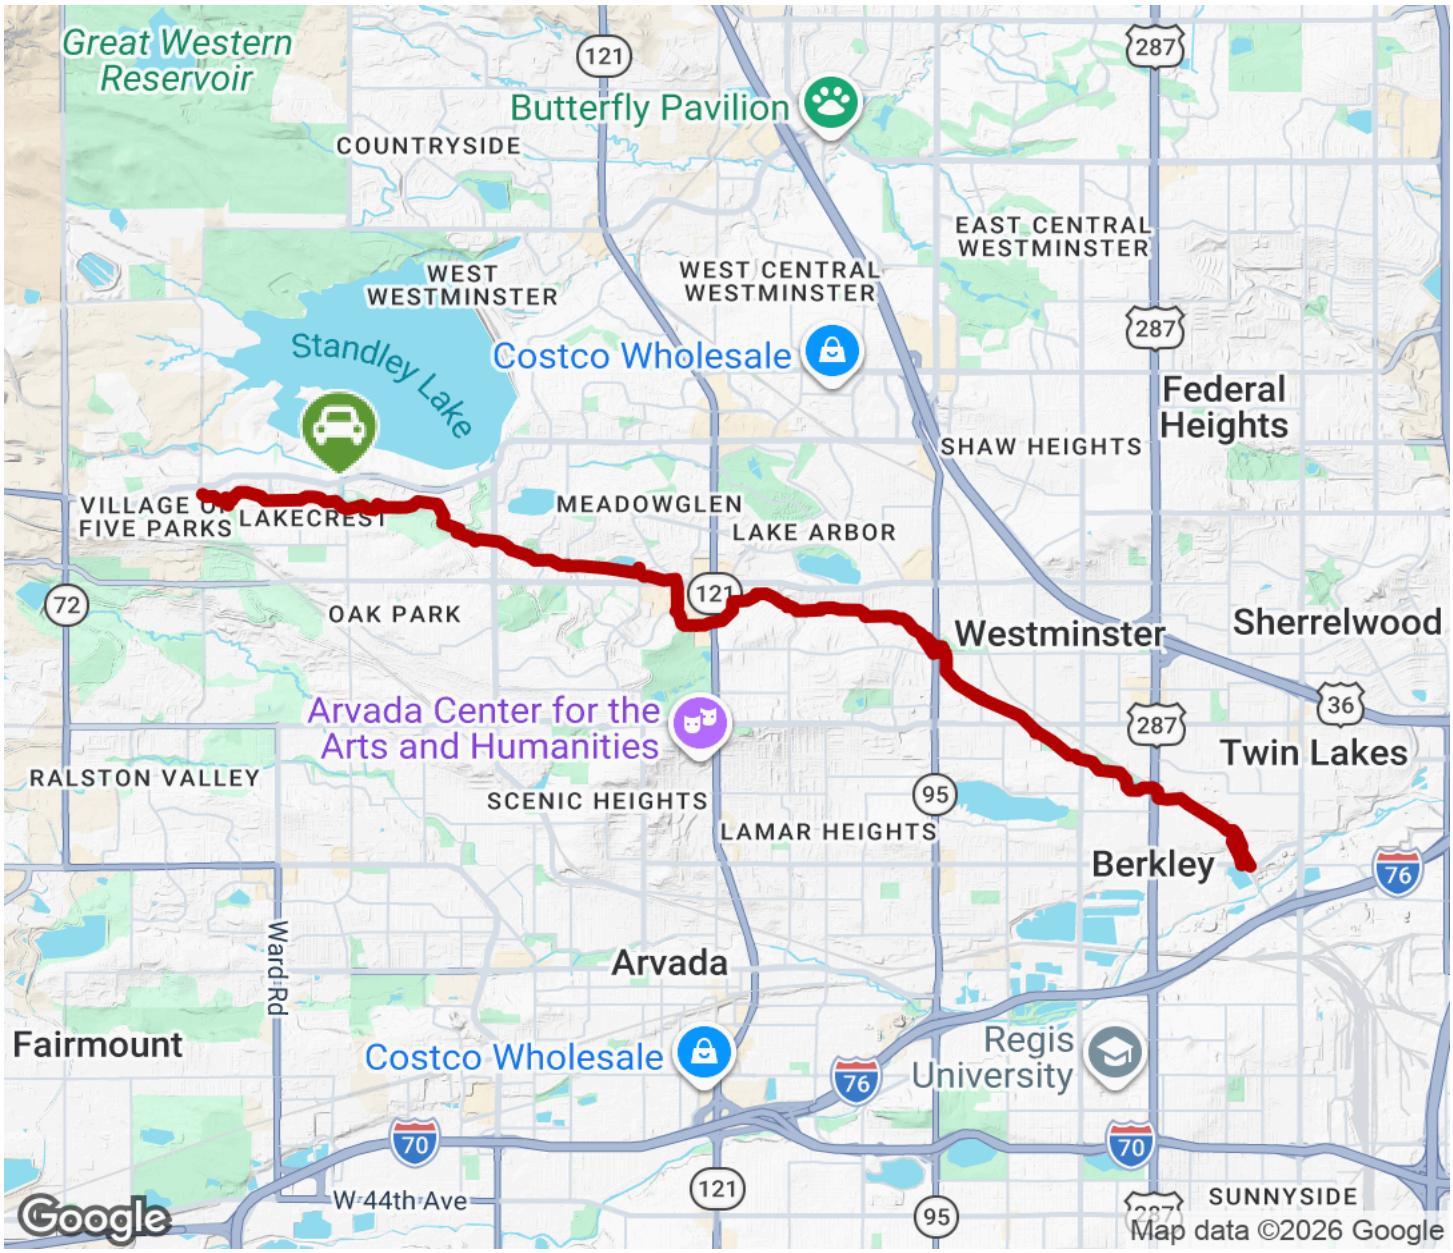
States: Colorado
Counties: Adams,Jefferson
Length: 10miles
Trail end points: Clear Creek Trail at W. 64th Ave. (Westminster) to Alkire St. south of 86th Pkwy. (Arvada)
Trail surfaces: Concrete
Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT
Trail activities: Bike,Inline Skating,Walking,Wheelchair Accessible

Parking & Trail Access

One of the easiest places to park is Wolff Run Park, found midway along the trail, on 76th Avenue at Sheridan Boulevard (1 mile west of the US 287/Federal Boulevard exit off US 36). Parking can also be found at Thompson Elementary School on the Arvada/Westminster border at Harlan Street and 78th Place.

Little Dry Creek Trail

Colorado



Trailhead | Restroom | Parking | Water Fountain | Tunnel