From the trail's western endpoint, trail users can continue seamlessly along the Santa Cruz Loop.

The Rillito River Park Trail is part of the Chuck Huckleberry Loop, a trail network that spans more than 136 miles throughout Tucson and Pima County.

The Rillito River Park Trail runs along both sides of its namesake river, from N. Craycroft Road to Interstate 10, where it links with the Santa Cruz Loop. The trail is fully paved, with a parallel soft-surface path for equestrians and runners that is also available for most of the route.

About the Route

Lots of shops are conveniently located on either side for quick pull-offs. Trail users will also find plenty of restrooms and drinking fountains, as well as exercise stations along the trail. From the western endpoint, seamlessly continue on the Santa Cruz River Park Trail to reach points both south and north.
