

2026

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Rock Furnace Trail

Pennsylvania

Rock Furnace Trail

Pennsylvania

The 1.5-mile Rock Furnace Trail is a scenic path in Roaring Run Recreation Area. The trail follows Roaring Run Creek from its

At the southern end of the Rock Furnace Trail, by the canal, you can pick up the Roaring Run Rail Trail.

The 1.5-mile Rock Furnace Trail is a scenic path in Roaring Run Recreation Area. The trail follows Roaring Run Creek from its confluence at the Kiski River to a small parking area off Brownstown Road. The steep, hilly trail makes for a scenic outing, taking in many small waterfalls along the creek. During spring, look for wildflowers in bloom, especially trillium that covers the stream valley hillsides.

The trail was built along a former gas well access road, and the highlight of the route is a 72-foot cable bridge built by volunteers to cross the creek. You'll also see the stonework remains of the Biddle Iron Furnace (a.k.a. the "Rock Furnace") near another landmark—"Camel Rock," as it's locally known. The furnace operated during the era of canal transport, from 1825 to 1850.

Rock Furnace Trail

Pennsylvania

States: Pennsylvania

Counties: Armstrong

Length: 1.5miles

Trail end points: Kiskiminitas River to Brownstown Rd

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Mountain Biking, Walking

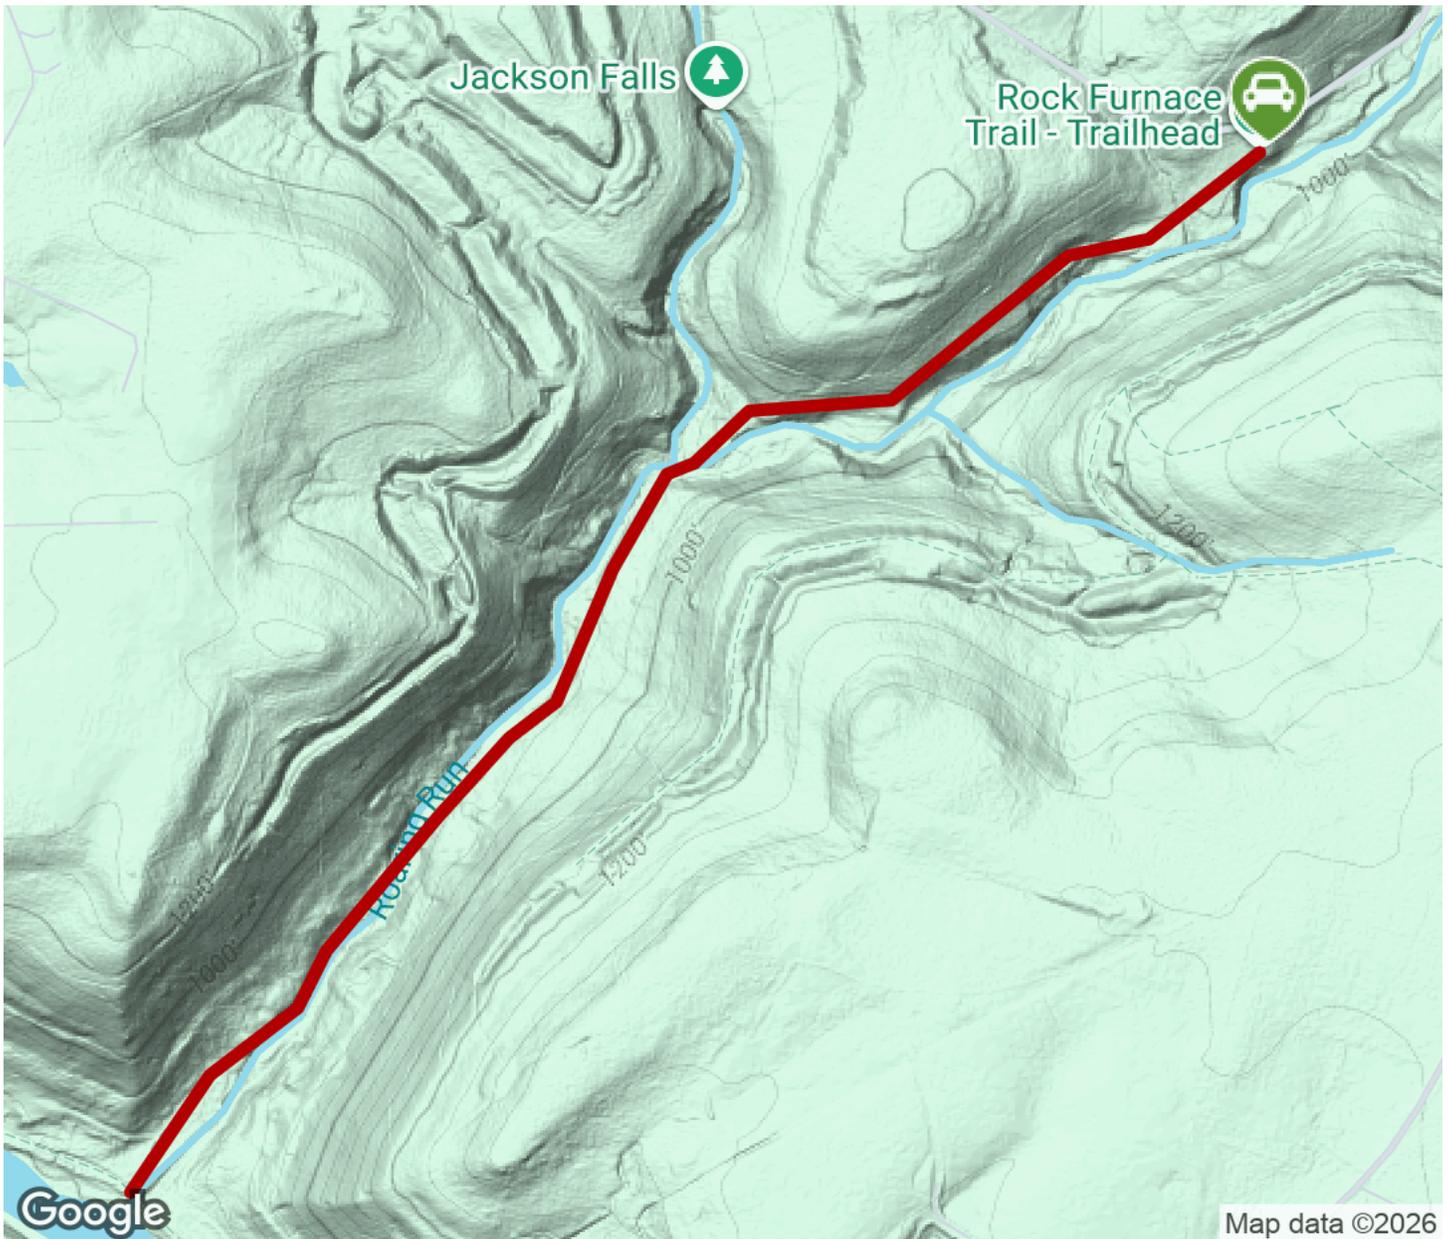

Parking & Trail Access

A small parking area is available at the north end of the trail off Brownstown Road.

Rock Furnace Trail

Pennsylvania

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com