The Petaluma Trails consist of 5 trails, each one through a unique and scenic part of historic Petaluma. There is a two-mile circular loop through Shollenberger Park and a one-mile trail that links the park to Petaluma Marina. A nice paved path runs alongside Lynch Creek, which has nice trees along its banks and a good view of Sonoma Mountain.

A scenic trail runs around the perimeter of a residential section of the town before running through the campus of Santa Rosa Junior College and ending at Prince Park.

Helen Putnam Regional Park is a 216-acre park offering panoramic views of southern Sonoma County and northern Marin County. The park has trails for hiking, bicycling and horseback riding. A gazebo, picnic area, and
