The St. Rose Parkway Trail runs along both sides of the road of the same name in Henderson, a southern suburb of Las Vegas. In the

Near the M Resort, a side trip down lightly-traveled Bruner Avenue provides an opportunity to hear the unexpected sound of roaring lions. The Lion Habitat Ranch provides a sanctuary for approximately 40 lions, including those that once roamed the manmade habitat in the MGM Grand, and is now open to the public for a fee.

The St. Rose Parkway Trail runs along both sides of the road of the same name in Henderson, a southern suburb of Las Vegas. In the south, the trail ends at the M Resort Spa Casino, one of the newest casinos in the area. In the north, the trail connects to the I-215 East Beltway Trail, which heads farther north along the Las Vegas Beltway towards Sin City.

The trail passes residences, shops, restaurants and the Siena Campus of Dignity Health's St. Rose Dominican Hospitals along its route. Numerous animal statues throughout provide artistic interest. Near Cactus Wren Park, pick up the Amargosa Trail to head east, closer to the heart of Henderson and ultimately to the base of the surrounding McCullough Range.
